

Name: _____

Appositives and Antecedents

Underline the appositive in each sentence. Circle the antecedent that it renames.

1. Dr. Huerta is a volcanologist, a scientist who studies volcanoes.
2. Magma (lava before it reaches the surface) can reach 1,200 °C, which is nearly 2,200 °F!
3. Indonesia, a large nation between mainland Asia and Australia, has the most active volcanoes in the world.
4. Indonesia is the home of Krakatoa, source of one of the largest volcanic eruptions in recorded history.
5. The volcano Mt. Vesuvius destroyed Pompeii in 79 CE.

three separate volcanic cones.

10. The Hawaiian and Galapagos Islands, two volcanic island chains, formed entirely by cooling lava.
11. Earth's southernmost active volcano, Mt. Erebus, is in Antarctica.
12. The Ring of Fire—a volcano belt wrapping around the Pacific Ocean—contains about 75% of Earth's volcanoes.
13. Mars has the largest known volcano: Olympus Mons.
14. Carlos, a lover of volcanoes, wants to visit Mount St. Helens one day.
15. My friend Kairo built a working volcano for a science project.

ANSWER KEY

Appositives and Antecedents

Underline the appositive in each sentence. Circle the antecedent that it renames.

1. Dr. Huerta is a volcanologist, a scientist who studies volcanoes.
2. Magma (lava before it reaches the surface) can reach 1,200 °C, which is nearly 2,200 °F!

Preview

Please log in to download the printable version of this worksheet.

14. Carlos, a lover of volcanoes, wants to visit Mount St. Helens one day.
15. My friend Kairo built a working volcano for a science project.