

What are we?

Monday's
Clue

We are living creatures. Thousands of different kinds of us exist in the world. We don't have ears. We have no bones inside our bodies. We have eight legs. I bet you think that all blood is red. It is not. We have blue blood!

What are we?

Tuesday's
Clue

You probably get new clothes when you outgrow your old ones. But, do you ever get a whole new skin? We do. When we need to grow, our old, hard skin, called an exoskeleton, falls off. Then we grow for a few days until our new exoskeleton has become hardened.

What are we?

Friday's
Clue

We are good for the world because we eat pesky and harmful insects such as grasshoppers, flies, and mosquitoes. We have sharp teeth that we use to bite and poison the insects.

What are we?

Bonus
Clue

Some of us bite people too. Our poison can make them sick. Most of us spin webs. These webs catch insects for us.
